The Moving Space

Atmosphere and Playfulness on Stage

March 15-18, 2025

Warsaw, Poland

with

Ulrich Meyer-Horsch, Schule für Schauspiel Hamburg, Germany

Grzegorz Łabuda, Living Space Theatre, Warsaw, Poland

Jakub Margosiak, Living Space Theatre, Warsaw, Poland

The space on stage is full of life, full of energy and breath. All an actor has to do is connect to this living space. Performing then becomes natural and simple.

In this workshop, we explore the space(s) of Eugène Ionesco's play "The Bald Soprano". What happens when we dive into the play's world and allow ourselves to be surprised by its specific dynamics, energy, language and space? Michael Chekhov's concepts of "Atmosphere" ("the soul of every piece of art") and "The Feeling of Ease, Form, Beauty and the Whole" will guide us through this exploration.

The workshop will combine Chekhov Technique with elements from Dance and Movement.

Movement in Space – Objective Atmosphere – Spatial Relationship – Personal Atmosphere – Feeling Ease, Form, Beauty and the Whole – Organic breathing – Playfulness

Please learn a short monologue or dialogue from Eugène Ionesco's play "The Bald Soprano" (in your own language or in English).
